UDAAN: CSA conducted a Christmas Carnival called UDAAN. The event was conducted for students sponsored under NEEV, Activity Centre to find the language of happiness and love, the Centre for Social Action organized a Christmas Carnival on the 16th of December, 2021 to bring in the cheer of the Christmas season to the children of the project areas and to make them love their lives a little more. More than 75 children participated in the program. 'A happy and smiling child is worth more than all the money in the world'. The presence of those little bundles of joy made the event even more memorable and glorious. UDAAN couldn't have been a success without the full dedication & loyalty of CSA volunteers and the children who made every single minute spent towards curating the entire joyful fest absolutely worth it. "Glittery faces while making decorative crafts." "Making our own Spotify playlist and playing it daily while working" "Wearing props and doing random dances". "And when guard uncle didn't allow the cotton candy Bhaiya to enter the premises, one of our leaders went outside and brought the whole stick full of cotton candy-like a pro...that was funny but her dedication was dope". "At the end of the day when the children went back, in no time we took our refreshment packets and ate the samosa, banana, and Frooti like people who had never seen food before"

Description:

Briefly describe the Event (Objective, How the event was planned and organized, Contributions of the volunteer)

CSA (Centre for Social Action)* in collaboration with School of Business and Management visited PRABHAT, Society for child development, where the students got hands-on exposure and became sensitized towards mentally disabled and physically challenged people.

The main aim of the visit was to make students aware about the techniques and skills used by the disabled people to make their livelihood sustainable using creative skills. Indeed the experience was marvelous, we were mind blown by the skills they have and what things they have made from waste.

Students also got the chance to learn skills like weaving using plastic, making natural Holi colors from flowers, making handlooms from waste papers, making shopping and laundry bags using recycled plastic, pottery, papier-mache products, and many more things. There were almost 120 inmates in the age group of 14 to 50 years who were engaged in different skills. They also have clients outside India who purchase and market the products made by them. Some of them also don't have anyone to care for and they stay in the centre itself. The centre is run by Dr. Madhumita, who is very dedicated to the upliftment of differently-abled people. The whole program is monitored by Siddharth, who explains everything about the centre and its functioning.

Other than the above mentioned some of the on-line activities conducted in academic year 2021-22 are:

1. EHSAAAS: With regards to the celebrations of World Blood Donation Day, the Centre for Social Action (CSA) Delhi NCR hosted a Podcast named 'EHSAAAS' based on the World Health Organisation theme of the year 2021 i.e. 'Give Blood and Keep the World Beating'

'How to save a life' plays in the background... a confusion-ridden pandemic era, where we witnessed the dire need for resources, we chose to save the lives we could. Every medical issue or proceeding comes with its own myths. Hence, awareness becomes an essential part of organizing such an event. So we took it onto our shoulders to go myth-busting and researching (so you don't have to) facts. In conversation with Dr Arun, our University witnessed its first podcast, more so, a video podcast EHSAAAS. The doctor candidly answered all questions put up by the panel.

2. ASHA: Centre for Social Action (CSA), came up with an event called "ASHA". It served as an opportunity to help the masses. The aim was to raise awareness regarding the Welfare Schemes laid down by the Government of India, State Governments, Private Firms and individuals to help those who have lost their family members due to the Second Wave of the COVID-19 Pandemic. A Ray of Hope ASHA CSA NCR THIS TOO SHALL PASS The Silver Lining Like Miss Taylor Swift said "sticks and stones never broke my bones" Hope became methadone in the lives of so many people who lost their loved ones in the pandemic. The huge loss they suffered, both financially and emotionally is unfathomable. Christites empathized with their suffering and took it to be their responsibility to give them 'ASHA' (Hope) by spreading awareness regarding schemes to support these families financially, as well as collected responses as to what gives them hope. Art as a means to Persevere - we collected pieces of artwork in all forms- music, literature, testimonials, photography, etc. which was further presented under the 'UMEED' section on the website.

3. Nav-Arambh: Nav-Arambh was a 9 days awareness campaign conducted by CSA covering various topics like SDG's, Self-help groups, the millennium fellowship, target population, etc.

As part of our 9-day event during Navratri, CSA introduced 'Nav-Arambh' (New Beginnings). Various activities like, open-mic, clean-up drive and street plays on 'Plastic Paradox' were held as part of the occasion upon the theme '17 United Nations Sustainable Goals' (UNSDGs). The event was an opportunity for the students to learn and challenge each other to make an impact in society, creating a plan of action to drive change at every level through campus-wide initiatives. The CSA-ites understood the necessity of bridging independence and interdependence, with financial and social security as a guide. Millennium Fellowship Projects, F.O.R and Eco-Lution, were introduced as a part of the event, inviting students to volunteer to make a social impact. Nav-Arambh concluded on 13 October 2021 i.e. on the last day of Navaratri successfully.

Art is the imposing of a pattern on experience, and on Our Aesthetic Enjoyment is recognition of a pattern.

Nav- Arambh was a 9-day event where each day had a different theme. We started by spreading awareness about the 17 different UNSDGs through a very fun game! It was an extremely interactive session. The volunteers presented an array of opinions on the points put up. We had flash mob, open mic, selfie point, and much more - all related to the various UNSDGs. The open mic was so fun! With all the singing and dancing, we got an opportunity to explore our hidden talents followed by the street play. We had a tour of the Sewage Treatment Plant on our campus which is used to water our garden plants. This made us feel proud as we were helping society by reusing water and not wasting it. Afterwards, we had a testimonial video shoot on how the cleanup drive went which was conducted in a local place.

° The equilibrium of revolution and romance °

They tell me my poetry is a sin,
And I must ask forgiveness for she still refuses to lock onto my tongue.
She tumbles out of my hollow voice box,
Stretching, my agnostic strings
to sing a praise hymn,
from the Rigveda
tainting them,
changing them
painting them in my rebellion.

But worship is for the lunatics,
and they can't speak my prayers,
So instead I let out my war cry.
“Kayar hunu bhanda, marnu ramro”
Poetic translation-
If you burn my poetry,
I'll turn to lord Agni
And burn your existence, with me
They tell me my poetry is a sin.
It hides in between folds of protests,
To rope down the right-wing,
And throw the left off their moral skyscrapers.
After the murder, larceny, and arson,
she returns back home to me and makes dessert for the night meal.
She sits with a bowl of chocolate fudge,
With a drizzle of raspberry and metaphors.
But on days my poetry can't spell revolution,

it spells romance.

I say my romance is a virtue,
for she holds no grudges,
in the curves of her palm.
Instead, she unpacks packages of forgiveness,
on the June afternoon in the middle of the sun
like a box of nanu's kheer,
and spills it into bowls,
for those who bound her wings,
holding herself from setting free.

She was the last sermon of buddha "Vayadhammā saṅkhārā appamādena sampādeṭha"
Poetic translation-
Rebellion resides in my bones, (read- chaos)
yet they still sing of home.
She sits on the right of the scale staring at revolution.

I will learn to string both syllables even if I can't push them onto paper,
I will find the words of romance and revolution and who can bind me because

I write like yearning was my mother, and I was birthed to leave wilted flowers on the graves of romantics;
where the dirt throws me out once a century to paint another Death of Chatterton, and die being Thomas myself.
Like I am a starving vendor selling peaches and pears,
tenderness and adoration,
but also the seeds withering and rotting on the roadside, sucked, chewed and spat out.

I remember singing the prayer of Saint Assisi in the grounds of my cold convent school
"Grant that I may,
not so much seek to be consoled as to console
To be understood, so as to understand to be loved, as to love"
Alphabets that were learned,
spilling from the mouth of woman,
not so well learned herself.
and the words, futile back then,

choke my throat and carve sigils into my ribcage now because I swear,
I tried,
tried to find the balance.

Like I was a lunatic scratching on the backdoors of families, who let their children taste candy on birthdays.
Like Shakespeare's fool, offering flowers of yellow in exchange for the blues,
and thriving and thrifting in a series of dumb trades,
because what is my blood,
if not a love granting wish well and who am I
if I don't walk every road to the end and stumble into a poetic battle of revolution and romance.

In the 57th line,
of my 64th poem,
I scream to declare,
I will search till the end to find the balance, or die on the days I dip to one end.

They will cower under my romance, my own rebellion, for it is as inhumane to be bound by true love,
as it is to be crushed by pure hate (read - dissent)

The Sweet Betrayal Of Friendship

The first time I saw Elysian was in kindergarten, the elders of my village were lined up against the walls of the back alley. They leaned into the shadows of the lane, hunched with history and the brunt of the war. There was a hooded man with them shuffling nervously with his hands hidden. One by one each of the elders conversed with the strange man and by the end of their transaction, they all possessed one red pill. It shone like a ruby in their wrinkled palms and as they held it up to their eye, the sunlight would cast a ray of blood across the skin. After this ritual was over, they would pop into their mouths and with a sigh of bliss drop down to concrete and forget about the world. It was a hellish life but it was worth living for.

At the time, I didn't realize what it was. I only saw it as a forbidden candy which wasn't different from other candy because it was all strictly rationed within the walls. Ever since the war between Morthor and Rumia, we were forced to live within the quarters. The Morthors said it was to remind us each day when we rose and when we went to bed that we had lost the battle and our land. As a child it didn't matter much to me, the size of my world had shrunk but I had not lived in it long enough to know the difference. It was a hellish life but it was worth living for.

Every day there would be old men passed out on the streets and my mother would tell me how it was the same when the war was going on. Except their bodies would be soaking in crimson blood and it would pool into the gutters and stink up the entire neighbourhood. The soldiers that survived were now shells of human beings lounging around waiting for death or relief whichever came first. With the red candy, it would eventually deliver both. It was a hellish life but it was worth living for.

The next time I saw it was in the bathrooms of my Rumian school, if you could call it that. The cracks ran along the walls and sometimes it would crumble to dust. It fell apart like our memory of home. There were teenagers huddled in the corner, cupping the pill like red beads, a certain desperation in their shifting eyes. They gulped it down eagerly, their tongues lapping at the corners of their mouth. Someone told me they were dreaming with their eyes open, that the world was spiraling before them into shapes and colours. And these colours were different, not the ones we learnt about. White was from the softness of clouds and not the funeral cloth and the black was from the velvety night sky and not the darkness of hatred.

I wonder how long they dreamed for because sometimes I would find them foaming at the mouth, their body contorted in different directions. They lay on the floor like the needle of a compass. Like a compass without any direction.

I wanted to dream too but my mother forbade it, her eyes would widen in shock as I recounted the sights I saw in the corridors of the institution. She would slap me across the face any time I expressed desire for the red candy. I assumed my mother didn't like sweet things, maybe bitterness was what she had known her entire life.

It was my friends that suggested the idea first but I refused. I didn't think my mother was worthy of seeing colours. They had heard about the dreams from their seniors and they were eager to see for themselves. There was seldom anything else to do in this city of hell than dream of a heaven.

They cooed to me to join them then they resorted to mocking. They held up the pills to the light and the red streamed across their faces just like the old men. It struck me then it looked like blood, they were fighting a war of their own.

They asked me if I wanted to dream forever and I shook my head. I knew it was a hellish life but it was the only life I knew. That was when they had retired the diplomatic efforts, the jeering and the mockery began. Ultimately I gave in, slipping the candy into my mouth while the world spun around and around and the colours bleed into each other.

What was worth living for was also worth dying for.

In Harmony with this Earth

As a bird that peers all day in the room of the house in which the skinny young boy lives, I have come to know this place well. I have to come to know the boy and understand his sorry and intense exasperation. I am as frustrated as him at times, when the cold strong breeze knocks of the twigs that make up my home on this branch, when I miss my kids and hope they're doing well in bird heaven down below, when I find no worms to keep up my appetite, and above all when I face my reality of being eternally caught down here. You see, like the boy does, I too had wings that helped me soar high in the sky. Nothing could distress me when I was up there and the messes of the Earth remained down below. Yet, in a slash I lost my wings and dropped below, forever stuck in these branches. Sometimes I think about those clouds, the ones through which I felt powerful and indifferent gliding through and feel this urge to hide between them again. But being stuck on this terrene has given me perspective. You see when all my mirages were shattered, I realised, everyday once I had flown across miles of endless sky I came down to the ground. I came back with my claws clinging to these branches until I flew again. As high as I would fly, my peace was in my kids, and my kids were in my home, and my home was down below, fixed in that trunk that never shook. When I ponder on my existence, I think about how the sky can only give me moments but the Earth can give me a whole life. I wonder if the boy thinks that way too.

Event - Sensitization Campaign

Date – 25th November to 2nd December 2021, 4th and 5th January 2022

Time - During lunch

Venue - Central Campus

Volunteers involved – 27

Description – This event aligns with the UN SDGs 4, 11, 12, and 13 of them being Quality Education, Sustainable Cities and Communities, Responsible Consumption and Production, and Climate Action respectively. The Sensitization Campaign was held as a follow-up event to the Parivarthana March. For this event, students stood near the dustbins and prevented students from throwing non-segregated waste and also corrected students in case they had incorrect information on how waste was to be segregated. In addition to this, the volunteers went around sensitizing the students on campus about the importance of the segregation of waste. The fact that improperly segregated waste cannot be recycled was emphasized. There was also a survey conducted on campus the population of which consisted of the CHRIST students. This survey asked the students what their reasons were for the incorrect segregation of waste. The results were collected and analyzed. The most common response to this was laziness and ignorance.

Community Impact - By doing so, the volunteers understood the receptivity of the people around them. By spreading awareness about the work done by the women in the Unit, their workload gets easier when waste is segregated at the root by the students.

Volunteers Impact- The volunteers who took part in this campaign gained knowledge of the general pattern of waste disposal on campus. They also gained time management skills as they had to complete their tasks as well as have their lunch during Lunch hour.

Event - Pseudo Scene to Go Green

Date - 17th February 2022

Time - 1 pm, during lunch

Venue – Central Campus

Volunteers involved - 20

Description – This event aligns with the UN SDGs 11, 12, 13, and 15 which are Sustainable Cities and Communities, Responsible Consumption and Production, Climate Action, and Life on Land respectively. The event “Pseudo Scene to go Green” involved volunteers intentionally creating a commotion near popular eateries on campus to gain the attention of the students present. Once this was achieved, the volunteers introduced themselves and proceeded to tell the listeners about the importance of segregating their waste and what a big difference it would make to the staff of the Parivarthana Unit just by taking an extra second to properly segregate waste. Small changes that the students could make on campus were intimated such as carrying cups for coffee/ tea and carrying their water bottles instead of purchasing bottles on campus. The necessity for waste management was emphasized.

Community Impact - By spreading awareness about the work done by the women in the Unit, their workload gets easier when waste is segregated at the source by the students.

Volunteers Impact- the volunteers were given exposure to acting and there were a lot of team building and time management skills required for this event as it happened over a very short period.

Description – This event aligns with UN SDGs 3, 11, and 12 which are Good Health and Well-being, Sustainable Cities and Communities, Responsible Consumption and Production accordingly. This session was conducted by a group of Volunteers for the Parivarthana Unit women and it helped the listeners gain an insight into the ill effects of sanitary pads and why they should switch to menstrual cups or cloth pads as they are a more sustainable option as compared to the common sanitary napkins found in every corner store today. This session also explained that cloth pads are not only better for the environment but also for us as they are a healthier option. It was also brought to light that menstrual cups are also a sustainable, healthy option as compared to plastic sanitary napkins. This session proved to be very informative not just for the Parivarthana Unit women but also for the volunteers who gained more knowledge on this topic in the procedure of preparing for the event.

Community Impact - The session helped volunteers understand the diverse range of thoughts that exist within the community regarding menstruation and it also helped the women understand sustainable alternatives to sanitary napkins.

Volunteers Impact- The volunteers gained a lot of insight on the healthy options on the topic of menstruation, especially for the volunteers conducting the event as they had to have an overview of the topic.

Venue – Parivarthana Unit

Volunteers involved – 32

Description – This event falls in line with the UN SDGs 4, 5, and 16 which are Quality Education, Gender Equality and Peace Justice, and Strong Institutions respectively. This event was held to celebrate the women who work at the Parivarthana Unit and show them the appreciation we students have for all the hard work they do daily. The Volunteers also handmade tokens of appreciation for the women such as personalized cards for each woman. The Parivarthana Unit was also decorated with hand-made decorations made by the volunteers.

Community Impact - These activities also aided the women to build their confidence and approach diverse groups of students and creatively express themselves.

Volunteer Impact- The volunteers had the opportunity to interact with the Parivarthana Unit women and hence bridge the gap that initially existed. Those who shared their experience of the same only had positive things to say about the experience.

Event: Child Sponsorship Program

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: Ongoing; Educational materials distribution in January 2022

Number of volunteers / beneficiaries: 35 volunteers, 3D staff members, & 200 child beneficiaries

Description:

1. Objective: To create sustainable improvement in the quality of life and the well-being of marginalized children in urban slums. The program ensures the healthy growth of children in a community that provides them quality education, training in life skills, opportunities for future employment, and income.
2. Planning and Organization: This Program was designed to support underprivileged students from marginalized backgrounds located in 3 slums in Bangalore, including the Janaki Ram Layout area where the 3D Empowerment Project is being conducted.

Funding & Support:

This Initiative was made possible with the support of the “Educate a Child” sponsorship Program, one of the first initiatives of CSA to create a sense of responsibility towards society among the student community. Initiated in the year 1999, the program supported 50 children across the different action areas of CSA. Currently, with annual contributions by Christites, CSA was able to cater to the educational needs of more than 800 children across the many action areas and slums that CSA has identified – of which 200 student beneficiaries are from the 3D Empowerment Project Area in Janaki Ram Layout, as per latest statistics. Under this program, the developmental and educational needs of one child can be covered with a contribution/donation of Rupees 4,000 [65 USD] for a year.

There were 3 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

- a) Outreach, identification, and documentation of CSP child beneficiaries
 - b) CSP execution and programming
 - c) CSP beneficiary family outreach, sensitization, and assessment
3. Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the 3 action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - a. Outreach, identification, and documentation of CSP beneficiaries

To gauge family socio-economic conditions and for the neediest children to be selected for the CSP, family household visits, as well as local government school visits, were conducted. At the start of 2022, there were already 125 children under the CSP as part of the 3D Empowerment Project. In January and February 2022, 75 new children were identified and inducted into the CSP. The MIS (Management of Information System) List for 200 children with all the child & family details (including photo, income, CSP funding amount, CSP funds expenditure record, etc. for every child) was entered and sent to the Director for the documentation purposes. These information sheets for every child were filed in 200 dedicated files and were stored in 3D Project Office in Janaki Ram Layout.

b. CSP execution, programming, and outcomes

Through CSP, the following activities are undertaken for sponsored children:

- Provision of required educational materials like notebooks, stationery, bags, etc.
This has the outcome of ensuring that every child has sufficient access to basic educational amenities and necessities to ensure a seamless learning experience. By covering the immediate/regular expenses incurred by school-going, CSA's CSP alleviates the financial pressure undergone by parents, thereby promoting them to send their children to school regularly.
- CSA Activity Centre CSP students are enrolled in the CSA Activity Centre to improve academic and non-academic performance and skills through informal academic sessions, extracurricular activities, personality development camps, etc. CSA Student Volunteers are involved in assisting the sponsored children in academic learning daily from 4:30 pm to 6:30 pm through Online Coaching due to pandemic conditions.
Offline sessions and support for their final examinations have commenced with the relaxation of COVID protocols by the government.
This has the outcome of ensuring that the students under the CSP are educationally supported for academic, non-academic, and holistic success.

The sponsorship continues up to 16 years of age to ensure the completion of education until 10th grade.

c. CSP beneficiary family outreach, sensitization, and assessment

CSP Children Parents Meetings were conducted for the newly identified children to give them an orientation about CSP, the sponsorship criteria, necessary documentation, activity center benefits, and contributions/responsibilities towards children that are expected from the parents' end.

impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Educationally empowered the child beneficiaries from the neediest households in marginalized socioeconomic conditions of the urban slum that is the focus is of the 3D Empowerment Project. This instills children from these marginalized areas with both confidence and motivation to pursue education and to engage themselves positively, without being inhibited by the lack of economic means to otherwise access education. This sets a positive trend of education and school-going in areas with otherwise low literacy and educational levels.

2. Socially empowered children by giving them the right, conducive, well-organized, and modulated environment to develop their skills, get immersed in education, and become motivated to use their time and effort productively and responsibly. The skills including accountability, responsibility, punctuality, regularity, and commitment were honed. Moreover, the Activity Centre is a form of a safe space, especially for girl children that is a safe, monitored, daily space where students are helped in the evening with homework until their mothers are at home. Thereby, the children are not only safe from social and familial violence until their mothers return from work, but they are also empowered at the time. This has long-term positive effects on the children and the society as a whole because the space associated with safety is also the space associated with education and learning, thereby encouraging students to pursue education and to view education as a beacon of hope. The CSP's holistic approach also ensures that the children are not only educationally empowered, but also gain the necessary training that enables them to take well-deliberated, positive, and thoughtful decisions in other realms such as family issues, and further studies etc.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating in the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of many more marginalized children and training and inspiring them to greater extents such that the number of enrolled students increased by 75 from 125 to 200, despite COVID conditions and other difficulties.
2. Managed to train students from marginalized communities holistically.
3. Sensitization of the challenges of children in urban slum areas and address issues related to child education, motivation, socioeconomic challenges, community development, the importance of goal setting, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules to maximize impact on the community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their knowledge framework by getting trained to impart education to the candidates in the most efficacious and lucid methods possible.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation in the local community entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: Grocery Kit Distribution

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: 5th & 14th July 2021 and 12th August 2021

Number of beneficiaries: 75

Description:

1. Objective: To give relief to the neediest families hailing from marginalized urban slum backgrounds who were most direly impacted by the COVID-related lockdown and unemployment by means of providing healthy sources of nutrition to support their family and children.
2. Planning and Organization: Grocery kits were procured using CHRIST CSA funds and the local government authorities for the Janaki Ram Layout Area were contacted and invited to the event to verify the protocols (COVID-related and kit distribution-related) and to ensure the smooth, efficacious, and efficient conduct of the program, so that all the efforts would directly, fully, and expediently benefit the beneficiaries.

There were 2 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

- a) Field visits and beneficiary mapping
- b) Distribution of grocery kits and relief-work for the beneficiaries\

3. Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the 3 action areas identified above, the following was executed:

a. Field visits and beneficiary mapping

In the month of June 2021, there were elaborate field visits and staff meetings conducted to identify who exactly would be the beneficiaries of the grocery kit distribution based on family socio-economic assessment. Based on these meetings, the following 3 liaisons were made for the following reasons related to beneficiary mapping:

- Women SHGs under the 3D project, as this would be a responsible leadership hub that has been trained to make good use of resources, resource management, and distribution.
Also, all the members are mothers of children attending school, so it is almost certain that the grocery would be put to good use (appropriate and timely consumption such that resources reach those who most need them).
- Local Government Schools adopted by CSA under the 3D Project since the schools have updated and accurate registers and awareness about the family situations of different children. Also, schools are source of awareness and, in this case, were the information points about the grocery kit distribution.
- Local Government Authorities to verify protocols (COVID-related and kit distribution-related) and to ensure the smooth, efficacious, and efficient conduct of the program.

b. Distribution of grocery kits and relief-work for the beneficiaries

On the 5th & 14th July 2021 and 12th August 2021 grocery distribution had taken place at the 3D Empowerment Project at Janaki Ram layout. CSA Volunteers, Director, BGR Coordinator, Project Staff, and Project Officer were present during the distribution. 208 children and SHG women benefitted from the grocery kits distributed at the CSA Activity Center in Janaki Ram Layout. All the instructions of the authorities were followed during the distribution. Each Grocery kit had nine items, which include rice, tur dal, wheat flour, oil, sugar, salt, turmeric powder, coriander powder, chili powder. People were also given awareness on COVID-19 and how to prevent themselves getting infected from the virus. Since all the beneficiaries had insufficient access to food and nutrition due to the lockdown, the grocery kit distribution program was cherished as an immense relief and invaluable resource and support.

This is because many people did not have sufficient monetary resources to buy these items since they were daily wagers and were disallowed from going out for work, thereby losing their only source of income. With this aid, the beneficiaries were able to feed their children, family members, and overcome hunger.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Nutritional Support: Since most of the beneficiary families due to their poverty first cut out on the quality and then the quantity of the food that they eat, by providing the grocery kit to the beneficiaries free of cost, they had access to both good quality and quantity of food, thereby ensuring that the community was well-nourished and healthy, especially during times of crises like the pandemic period.
2. Women and children's health: Since women and children require good quality and quantity of food to be nutritionally sound, which was compromised especially among marginalized, low-income families during the pandemic, this scheme targeted this issue by directly providing the kits to women and children through the social impact networks of the 3D project – the women's SHGs and the adopted government primary schools.
3. Linking the impact frameworks and potentials of different groups: the long-term impact on the community was the fact that through this program, the local community was shown the possibility, potency, and synergy of associating SHGs with government schools, which showed the potential of the next positive-trend leaders.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of 208 marginalized children, SHG women, and their families with nutrition supplies and necessities in the time of a grave public health emergency – the COVID-19 pandemic.
2. Sensitization about the challenges of children, women, and whole families in urban slum areas and realized the difficulties that come simultaneously along with a lack of basic food and nutrition during social crises.

3. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework.
4. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: IFCU Classes for Adolescents & Research

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: March 2021

Number of beneficiaries & Volunteers: 70 Adolescent girl beneficiaries

Description:

1. Objective: To educationally empower and sensitize adolescent girls from marginalized urban slum backgrounds who chose to drop out of school before the completion of their 10th standard through the conduct of IFCU classes.
2. Planning and Organization:

There were 3 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

 - a) Field visits and beneficiary mapping
 - b) Conduct of IFCU program
 - c) Research/impact assessment on the family
3. Organization & Outcome: As part of each of the 3 action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - a. Field visits and beneficiary mapping

Volunteers were introduced to the slum community through a mentored field exposure visit, after which volunteers went ahead and imparted education (to achieve educational empowerment), they planned for the observation of special days (to achieve sensitization), and house visits were scheduled (evaluation).
 - b. Conduct of IFCU program

IFCU classes were conducted for the adolescent girls in the urban project areas. 70 adolescent girls were supported and they were guided to continue their education. They were the student who dropped out of 10th standard and they were taught different lessons in the class and were engaged in different activities and observation of special days. The students were motivated to rejoin school, were given rigorous exam preparation, and were encouraged to take the examination. This has the outcome of positively engaging the students and making them motivated and self-confident.
 - c. Research/impact assessment on the family

Conducted house visits of IFCU children and interacted with the children and parents about the program. An inquiry of the parents was conducted to learn about the progress of their children and checked if the program was benefitting the children.

The parents and children were happy with the program and they were informed that it is useful and empowering for their children. This has the outcome of ensuring that the impact of education is cognizable to both family and society.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Educationally and socially empowered adolescent girls through course instruction to make them aware of the benefits of education and to motivate themselves to pursue future studies by giving them the right, conducive, well-organized, and modulated environment to develop their skills, get motivated to use their time and effort productively and responsibly. The skills including accountability, responsibility, punctuality, regularity, and commitment were honed. This ensures that the girls are not only educationally empowered, but also gain the necessary training which allows them to take well-deliberated, positive, and thoughtful decisions in other realms such as education, family planning, etc. moreover, since the girls, who are oftentimes oppressed, discriminated, and downtrodden in urban slum areas, are getting educated, their voice is more powerful and their decision more respected, implying that they become positive trendsetters for the marginalized society. This demonstrates how the candidates are not only social empowered by themselves, but are also keen and motivated to pass on the impact to the community and are instilled with the passion and aim to positively impact their community too.
2. Sensitization of social issues through the observation of special days in order to make the adolescents aware not only about the observance and conduct of special days, but also about the nature of issues that get recognized as special days. This will allow the students to reflect upon their society and social environment critically and recognize the ways in which these identified social issues can be raised and resolved through group action.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of 70 girl children and to train, prepare, and inspire them to greater extents.
2. Managed to train former drop-out girls an encourage them to believe in their potential and return to their studies, instead of dropping out.
3. Sensitization about the challenges of girls and addressed issues related to female education, motivation, socioeconomic challenges, community development, importance of goal setting, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework by getting trained to impart education to the candidates in the most efficacious and lucid methods possible.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Event: Wings' Orientation and Exposure Visit

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: February 2022

Number of volunteers: 45 volunteers & 1 faculty member & 60 Beneficiaries

Description:

1. Objective: To create awareness amongst the volunteers who participate with marginalized children in urban slums and to ensure that the volunteers who are going to engage with the children have appropriate knowledge about needs for the children's holistic development in order to make them more confident and self-sufficient.
2. Planning and Organization: This Program was designed to support underprivileged children (primarily) but also women from marginalized backgrounds located in the urban slum area of Janaki Ram Layout in Bangalore where the 3D Empowerment Project is being conducted. The main objective is to contribute to the children's holistic development by making them more confident and self-sufficient. It focuses on building stronger volunteer interaction between the children and provides more visibility to the project. Matram involves sessions, events, and research assessments. Project Yuva mainly focuses on the specific concerns and issues revolving around women's empowerment, safety, and health, and has been focusing on the project thematic line of "Sustainable Menstrual Practices". The Yuva and the Matram project work collaboratively to find areas of social action and execution.
3. Execution and Outcome:
 - a. Visit and Programs

The Matram students went for an exposure visit to the 3D Project area in order to gain awareness about the Program. They met and interacted with the CSP students, the adopted government school students, the SHG women, and the Activity Center staff in order to gain awareness about the issues, needs, and requirements of the different beneficiaries.

The Yuva students who focus on the areas of menstrual health and women's empowerment conducted house visits to obtain information about the individual menstrual health concerns of different women, and also attended the SHG meetings.
 - b. Resumption of Regular Programs

Since the Matram Students conduct spoken English classes every Saturday at the 3D Empowerment Project, they charted out plans as to how exactly the next sessions can be planned, conducted, and developed keeping in mind the fact that the needs of beneficiaries are dynamic with time and circumstances.

The Yuva students, since their focus is on menstrual health and hygiene of women, they focused on understanding how the menstrual hygiene programs can be developed and improved with regard to the new needs and requirements of the beneficiaries.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Educationally empowered the child beneficiaries from the neediest households in marginalized socioeconomic conditions of the urban slum which is the focus are of the 3D Empowerment Project through spoken English classes. This instills children from these marginalized areas with both confidence and motivation to pursue education and to engage themselves positively, without being inhibited by the lack of economic means to otherwise access education. This sets a positive trend of education and school-going in areas with otherwise low literacy and educational levels.
2. Socially empowered children by giving them the right, conducive, well-organized, and modulated environment to develop their skills, get immersed in education, become motivated to use their time and effort productively and responsibly. The skills including accountability, responsibility, punctuality, regularity, and commitment were honed. Moreover, the Activity Centre is a form of a safe-space for especially girl children which is a safe, monitored, daily space where students are helped in the evening with homework until their mothers are at home. Thereby, the children are not only safe from social and familial violence until their mothers return from work, but they are also empowered at the time. This has long-term positive effects on the children and the society as a whole because the space associated with safety is also the space associated with education and learning, thereby encouraging students to pursue education and to view education as a beacon of hope. The CSP's holistic approach also ensures that the children are not only educationally empowered, but also gain the necessary training that enables them to take well-deliberated, positive, and thoughtful decisions in other realms such as family issues, further studies etc.
3. Women's Health Support: The distribution has helped the community women and adolescent girls from being independent and autonomous during the menstruation period. They are usually dependent and even restricted to the confines of their homes during this period since they use tericot cloth. Whereas, with the provision of the sanitary napkins, they are made independent during this period, thereby empowering them.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of many more marginalized children and women through spoken English classes and menstrual hygiene programs, despite COVID conditions and other difficulties.
2. Managed to train students and women from marginalized communities in a holistic manner.
3. Sensitization about the challenges of children in urban slum areas and addressed issues related to child education, motivation, socioeconomic challenges, community development, importance of goal setting, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework by getting trained to impart education to the candidates in the most efficacious and lucid methods possible.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities' entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Event: Nasha Mukht Bharat Abhiyan

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: April 2021 (action at 3D began in August 2021) – February 2022

Number of volunteers: 15 MSW volunteers, 30 consistent youth beneficiaries, 2 MSW staff members

Description:

- Objective: To socially empower and educate youth and other indirect social beneficiaries (like the youth's family, immediate society, etc.) from marginalized urban slum backgrounds about the blight of drug-, alcohol-, and other forms of substance-abuse through education and engagement in regular youth club meetings, anti-addiction talks, and other similar forms of programs.
- Planning and Organization: This is a collaborative endeavor between Christites Against Substance Abuse (CASA) & the Nasha Mukht Bharat Abhiyan (NMBA) Project sponsored by Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, Government of India.
CASA, an initiative by the Student Association of the Department of Sociology and Social Work, aims to build a community of volunteers, peer educators, faculties, experts, and counsellors dedicated to raise awareness about issues involving substance abuse. CASA aims to work at the forefront of the university's mission to develop the institution as a hub for nurturing students to achieve targets under the aegis of NMBA and initiate programs against substance use at various levels within all the three campuses in Bengaluru and the CSA project areas.
Project Design: The project was designed to help & engage students from marginalized backgrounds to sensitize youth about the negative impacts of substance abuse and to create an empathetic and non-judgmental space to create awareness and to overcome the social issue of substance-abuse, especially in urban slum areas.
There were 3 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:
 - Youth identification, outreach, and location identification
 - Regular engagement through youth clubs
 - Culmination event informing youth about the negatives of substance-abuse
- Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the 3 action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - Youth identification, outreach, and location identification
Field visits were conducted in order to identify youths for the Youth Club, which would be the epicenter for anti-substance-abuse sensitization as well as education in the 3D Empowerment Project's focus area – Janaki Ram Layout. In August, an initial total of 20 candidates were identified (10 boys and 10 girls) and basic details were collected for the documentation. In addition, during these field visits, community halls, and other gathering spaces were identified for the conduct of the youth program sessions.

The Outcome of these repeated committed field visits for outreach was that eventually, by September 2021, 37 youths were participating in the programs of the NMBA and by February 2022, there were 52 beneficiaries in total.

b. Regular engagement through youth clubs

A youth club was organized and regularly conducted, engaged, and monitored every month throughout the year. MSW volunteers arrive at youth club meetings to educate the youth, sensitize them, and engage them with constructive activities. Monitored the regularity of the students enrolled in the Youth Club and visited the houses of those who did not attend or those who were irregular to have a discussion with the student and their family.

The Outcome of this is that the youth are regularly engaged in the anti-substance abuse endeavors of the youth clubs, implying that not only does the principle of preventing substance abuse become a way of life for the youth of the community, but also the methods of social engineering and methods of working for a social cause also get inculcated among the youth of the community.

c. Culmination event informing youth about the negatives of substance-abuse

The program at CHRIST was officially inaugurated with the Inauguration Ceremony of Christites Against Substance Abuse (CASA) in collaboration with the Nasha Mukt Bharat Abhiyan (NMBA) Project sponsored by Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, Government of India on 30 April 2021.

Moreover, to mark the culmination of a year-long effort that will be continued even in the next academic year, on 24 February 2022, an NMBA Youths Program was conducted by the MSW department in collaboration with CSA. During this event, an orientation about NMBA was given, the physically, mentally, and emotionally negative effects of substance-abuse were discussed, and knowledge about how to avoid, overcome, and prevent substance-abuse was imparted.

In addition, there was a visit to the District Commissioner of Police (DCP) by MSW students in order to make them aware about the successes of the NMBA and to identify areas and possibilities for collaboration and in order to situate the most appropriate office for the collaboration.

The Outcome of this is that the youth had a technical and rigorous sensitization of socio-economic impacts of substance abuse after their year-long efforts. This enabled to situate their efforts in the larger context of the anti-substance-abuse campaign.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Direct sensitization and awareness of the of the youth beneficiaries about the blight of substance-abuse especially in the context in a way such that the youth club becomes a beacon of positive social change, engagement, and education of the youth from marginalized backgrounds in slum areas. This implies that the community realizes urgency and prevalence of the issue of substance-abuse, and the fact that immediate, concrete action needs to be taken to counter the banes of the issue. They realize the gravity of the issue and the consequential socio-economic impacts of the issue.

In addition to this, the youth themselves (who are the most susceptible population wherein the issue is most prevalent) become the harbingers of change in the context of substance-abuse, which is the most key point of sensitization.

2. Socially empowered youth by giving them the right, conducive, well-organized, and modulated environment to develop their skills, get motivated to use their time and effort productively and responsibly. The skills including accountability, responsibility, punctuality, regularity, and commitment were honed. Not only does the principle of preventing substance abuse become a way of life for the youth of the community, but also the methods of social engineering and methods of working for a social cause also get inculcated among the youth of the community. This ensures that the youth are not only sensitized about substance abuse, but also gain the necessary training which allows them to take well-deliberated, positive, and thoughtful decisions in other realms such as education, family planning, etc. The youth are not only socially empowered by themselves, but are also keen and motivated to pass on the impact to the community and are instilled with the passion and aim to positively impact their community too.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of many such youth and by training and inspiring them to greater extents such that from the 1st 20 identified students for the youth club, the number of beneficiaries increased to 52 from August to February.
2. Collaboratively managed to train youth for the cause of anti-substance-abuse based on the combined, collaborative best practices of CHRIST CSA as well as Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, Government of India.
3. Sensitization about the challenges of youth and addressed issues related to youth substance abuse, motivation, socioeconomic challenges, community development, importance of education, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework by getting trained to impart education to the candidates in the most efficacious and lucid methods possible.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: Sanitary Napkin Distribution

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: April 2021 – March 2022

Number of volunteers: around 500 beneficiaries on alternate months

Description:

1. Objective: To raise awareness about menstrual hygiene practices and health sensitization amongst adolescent girls and women from marginalized urban slum backgrounds through a discussion on menstrual hygiene and experience-sharing.
2. Planning and Organization: The sanitary napkin provision was conducted by CSA thanks to the collaboration with and product supply to CSA by the health-based NGO Arogya Seva. The distribution nodal points were the women's SHGs wherein, CSA was certain that the neediest girls and women could gain access to the resources.

There were 2 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

- a) Collection and distribution of sanitary napkins from Arogya Seva and to the beneficiaries respectively
 - b) Sensitization, reflections, & experience-sharing by beneficiary girls and women.
3. Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the 2 action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - a. Collection and distribution of sanitary napkins

The women's self-help groups are instrumentalized as the nodal point for the distribution to take place as it would be the ideal connection hub for reaching the neediest women and girls in the urban slum community of the 3D Project. Following are the typical steps of action:

 - Every month, CSA 3D Project receives sanitary napkins from Arogya Seva.
 - Each Women's SHG is handed 15 pads and then the distribution was undertaken by the SHG (to hone a sense of social responsibility among the women) and was closely monitored by CSA staff in order to ensure that the resources were equitably and transparently distributed.
 - For documentation purposes, evidences including signatures of the families that received sanitary napkins were recorded.
 - Social distancing and sanitizer protocol were followed during the distribution period.

Below is a table that shows the monthly statistics of sanitary napkin collection and distribution for the year 2021-22:

March 2022	sanitary napkins collected from Arogya Seva NGO

b. Sensitization, reflections, and experience-sharing by the beneficiaries

Due to the marginalized socioeconomic conditions of the girls and women in urban slums, they are generally unable maintain cleanliness during menstruation period. There was a sensitization talk given to all those present about the challenges of low menstrual hygiene and how this could lead to a host of infectious diseases.

When requested to share their perspectives, the girls and women mentioned that purchasing sanitary napkins every month is an enormous financial burden that they are unable to shoulder, given their limited economic means. Adolescent girls share that they use tericot cloth as there are no other financially viable alternatives. This led to compromises on menstrual hygiene that is taking a toll on their health.

The immediate/individual Outcome of this sanitary napkin distribution program is that the health of the girls is taken care by the provision of sanitary napkins, and also, they are not restricted to limiting their use of sanitary napkins since the necessary numbers are provided, thereby alleviating the financial stress that usually comes with the adoption of best menstrual health practices.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Women's Health Support: The distribution has helped the community women and adolescent girls from being independent and autonomous during the menstruation period. They are usually dependent and even restricted to the confines of their homes during this period since they use tericot cloth. Whereas, with the provision of the sanitary napkins, they are made independent during this period, thereby empowering them.
2. Increased Awareness: Due to the health discussion about menstrual hygiene given to the nodal point of girls, women, at the location of the women's self-help groups, this knowledge became more widespread and the community was sensitized and made aware about the importance and methods of menstrual health best practices.
3. Financial Support: Since most of the beneficiary families, due to their poverty, first cut out on the quality and quantity of the healthcare services that they avail, the sanitary napkin provision has immensely alleviated this financial stress and has borne the cost of good health practices for the community, which the beneficiaries appreciated. Thus, the community realized the urgency & importance of good menstrual health in the society.
4. Linking the impact frameworks and potentials of different groups: the most significant long-term impact on the community was the fact that, through this program, the local community was shown the possibility, potency, and synergy of associating SHGs with NGO action for social good, which showed the potential of the next positive-trend leaders.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of around 500 families every month in a single slum, and also demonstrated the synergetic joint possibilities of SHG women and NGOs to act concretely towards positive social change and social engineering.
2. Sensitization about the challenges of children, girls, and whole families in urban slum areas and realized the difficulties that come simultaneously along with a lack of menstrual hygiene resources, which was accentuated especially during the public health crisis.
3. Collaboratively managed to act for women's health and sensitize community based on the combined, collaborative best practices of CHRIST CSA as well as Arogya Seva.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: School Adoption Program

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: October 2021, November 2021, December 2021, February 2022

Number of volunteers / beneficiaries: 2 school beneficiaries, 15 MSW faculty & student volunteers

Description:

1. Objective: To create sustainable improvement in the quality and impact of education of marginalized children in urban slum areas in Janaki Ram Layout through the adoption of the potentially most-influential nodal point – the school.
2. Planning and Organization:

There were 2 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

 - a) School mapping for adoption and documentation
 - b) Teacher/Headmaster training and visits and field assessment
3. Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the two action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - a. School mapping for adoption and documentation

In order to gauge state of the schools that were being adopted, a need assessment team comprising of 2 MSW faculty, the 3D Project coordinator, and MSW student volunteers surveyed different schools in the area. 2 local government schools were finally identified which had limited teaching resources and were understaffed. Interviews with the teachers, headmaster, and students were conducted to evaluate if CSA support was required by the school.

Further to this, detailed documentation of the identified school was undertaken to measure student to faculty ratio, attendance rate, the nature and socioeconomic background of the students who attended these schools, etc.

Finally, this documentation was sent to the Director of CSA, Dr Victor Paul, and an approval to adopt the 2 schools was obtained.
 - b. Teacher/Headmaster initiation and visits and field assessment

Through the School Adoption Program at the 3D Empowerment Project in Janaki Ram Layout, the following activities are undertaken:

 - Headmaster and Teacher Initiation: The headmasters and teachers of the 2 schools were provided an information session to delineate the expectations from CSA, the kind of support that would be given to CSA, and the responsibilities that this entailed for the school and its staff.

- Teaching Materials In the month of February, teaching aids were prepared and shared with the schools by CSA. This has the outcome of ensuring that the students who arrive at these adopted schools have access to good quality education, thereby raising the standard of learning and motivation to study in the community.
- Link Making with CSA Initiatives: The schools were identified as other nodal points for CSA's social endeavors and were integrated with the social action framework of CSA which includes women's SHGs and local authorities and the schools were integrated with the other social action initiatives of CSA such as the CSP, the Activity Center, the Grocery Kit Distribution Program, among others. This has the outcome of ensuring that the students in the adopted schools were part of the larger social action framework and positive change-making process that CSA has initiated.
- Monitoring Support: The 3D Project animator and intern students regularly visit the schools to assist the teachers and monitor the progress made by the children studying at these schools adopted by CHRIST CSA.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Educationally empowered the children from the neediest households in marginalized socioeconomic conditions of urban slums which is the focus area of the 3D Empowerment Project. This instils children from these marginalized areas with both confidence and motivation to pursue education and to engage themselves positively, without being inhibited by the lack of economic means to otherwise access good quality education. This sets a positive trend of education and school-going in areas with otherwise low literacy and educational levels. This also ensures that the students who arrive at these adopted schools have access to good quality education, thereby raising the standard of learning and motivation to study in the community. holistic approach also ensures that the children are not only educationally empowered, but also gain the necessary training that enables them to take well-deliberated, positive, and thoughtful decisions in other realms such as family issues, further studies etc.
2. Linking the impact frameworks and potentials of different groups: the long-term impact on the community was the fact that through this program, the local community was shown the possibility, potency, and synergy of associating SHGs with government schools, which showed the potential of the next positive-trend leaders. This also ensures that the students in the adopted schools were part of the larger social action framework and positive change-making process that CSA has initiated.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of many more marginalized children through 2 government schools, which are nodal points to reach multiple children, their families, and ultimately the urban slum community and to train and inspire the children to greater extents despite COVID conditions and other difficulties.

2. Managed to train students from marginalized communities in a holistic manner through the means of the adopted government schools.
3. Sensitization about the challenges of children in urban slum areas and addressed issues related to child education, motivation, socioeconomic challenges, community development, importance of goal setting, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework by getting trained to impart education to the candidates in the most efficacious and lucid methods possible.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Event: Self Help Groups (SHG) Engagement

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: March 2021 – April 2022 (ongoing)

Number of beneficiaries: 150 women

Description:

1. Objective: To tangibly (skill-based) as well as socio-economically empower women and other beneficiaries from marginalized urban slum backgrounds through engagement/ intervention of the SHG animator and other organizers at CHRIST CSA.
2. Planning and Organization: Trainers were familiarized with knowledge and sensitized about SHGs by means of the book A Training Handbook for Self Help Groups by the International Program on the Elimination of Child Labor published by the Karnataka Child Labor Project Supported by the Govt of Italy. This manual was used to train the animators and organizers of the SHGs to intervene in meaningful, critical, and impactful ways.

SHG Animator & Organizer Orientation and Training:

In September 2021, SHG animator/organizer visited CSA and were trained and oriented about the purpose of SHGs, the origin of SHGs in Hoskote and their status today, the role of leaders, and the importance of record maintenance & book-keeping. CSA Director, Dr. Victor Paul, elucidated that the significance of SHGs is not only for financial purposes, but also about independence, discipline, and overall development of women and their family. Special stress was placed on the transformative capacity of SHGs because of the awareness-building aspect and group-based problem resolution of the SHGs.

There were 4 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

- a) Monitoring SHG weekly meetings
 - b) Updating SHG record books and account details
 - c) Identification of new SHGs/dysfunctional existing SHGs
 - d) Development of the SHGs in new dimensions
3. Execution & Outcome: As part of each of the 3 action areas identified above, the following was executed:
 - a. Monitoring SHG weekly meetings
10 SHGs were regularly monitored by the following means:
 - Visiting members' houses regularly & collecting information
 - Attending 22 meetings course of the month

Outcomes

- Visiting members' houses enabled the coalescence of familial and social issues such as COVID-related precautions, overcoming alcoholism and sexually abusive behavior amongst males in the family, education of children, etc. with the agenda of the SHGs, thereby making it a multi-pronged effort targeting empowerment and social development.
- The SHG participants mainly discussed savings, interest, loan repayment
- Key interests of most SHG members include: [1] Savings; [2] Irregular loan repayment; [3] The time given to repay once the members get a proper job.
- Meetings are conducted following the SHG protocols.
- Monthly SHG economic statistics for the annual year 2021-2022 were recorded as follows:

Month	Savings	Loan Repayment	Interest
April 2021	Rs. 20,200/-	Rs. 1,50,000/-	Rs. 11,500/-
June 2021	Low due to pandemic-related seasonal unemployment issues
July 2021
August 2021	Rs. 20,200/-	Rs. 1,50,000/-	Rs. 11,500/-
September 2021	Rs. 15,000/-	Rs. 75,000/-	Rs. 7000/-
October 2021	Rs. 140,000/-	Rs. 1,20,000	Rs. 6000/-
November 2021	Rs. 15,000/-	Rs. 1,00,500/-	Rs. 11,500/-
December 2021	Rs. 15,000/-	Rs. 1,00,500/-	Rs. 11,500/-
January 2021	Rs. 10,000/-	Rs. 75,000/-	Rs. 12,250/-
February 2021	Rs. 13,000/-	Rs. 120,000/-	Rs. 15250

b. Updating SHG record books and account details

Updated 3 SHG Books and filled in the details in Savings Ledger, Member-wise Repayment Monitoring Register, Loan Repayment Ledger, Interest ledger, etc.

c. Identification of new and/or dysfunctional SHGs

Collaboration with Anu Life for coordinating the formation of new SHGs and for business collaborations.

Kaveri SHG and Mother Teresa SHG were found to be dysfunctional because members irregularly attend the weekly meeting. A meeting was arranged with the project officer, and necessary follow-up action was taken such that members were given appropriate instructions about regularity and group leaders were advised to take record and implement changes to ensure that members participated regularly.

d. Development of SHGs

From October to December 2021, worked towards expanding the SHGs into more institutionalized groups associated with a bank. For this purpose, visited Union Bank and met manager regarding merging SHG corporation bank with union bank, changing the passbook for all the groups, as well as monitoring the group members.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Economically empowered women and other beneficiaries – both direct (the other participants in the SHG-credited projects) and indirect (the women’s children and families who benefit from having an empowered mother in the household) – by making them economically autonomous & capable of financing & initiating their projects independently. The sensitization of the women through reflection in weekly meetings about contemporaneous social issues such as lockdown-associated unemployment, familial tensions, etc. as well as their empowerment/education implies that the children are also positively impacted and well-educated (due to their mothers’ financial as well as decisional independence, who are also educated and encouraged/motivated to enroll and send their children to school regularly).
2. Socially empowered and skill-based training of women by giving them the right, conducive, well-organized, and modulated environment to conduct their own independent entrepreneurial projects. The skills including accountability, record-keeping, punctuality, regularity, and entrepreneurship (through business endeavors such as tiffin/meal centers, saree shops, etc.) were honed. This enhances the power and impact of the voice and decisions of women in the social realm, implying that both the family and the society stand to gain, thereby enhancing the community’s identification of women’s talents and power.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by creating multiple new SHGs (from 1 to 11 groups). The success of the first few SHGs solicited the creation and development of new SHGs which were monitored and aided by CSA.
2. Managed to train SHGs based on the best practices of SHG conduct and management.
3. Sensitization about the challenges of women and addressed issues related to children’s academics, women’s rights, domestic rights, family planning, stress control, etc.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework by getting trained using the SHG training manual.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: Vaccination Drive Program collaboration with BBMP

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: February 2022

Number of beneficiaries: 250 beneficiaries

Description:

1. Objective: To raise awareness about COVID-19 preventive measures, overcome vaccine hesitancy, and health sensitization amongst individuals from marginalized urban slum and to vaccinate them against the pandemic through a vaccine drive.

2. Planning and Organization: The vaccination is provided to the beneficiaries thanks to the collaboration with and product supply to CSA by the government agency Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Paalike (BBMP). The distribution nodal points were the women's SHGs and the local government primary schools adopted by CSA wherein, CSA was certain that the vaccine mobilization could be initiated.

There were 2 distinct branches/scopes of work that were planned/organized:

- a) Permissions and event organization
- b) Outreach, overcoming vaccine hesitancy, and sensitization

3. Execution and Outcome: As part of each of the 2 action areas identified above, the following was executed:

a. Permissions and event organization

The local doctors at various local clinics as well as the local Primary Health Center (PHC) were contacted by the CSA staff over the course of the year in order to arrange for the necessary people, resources, and protocols to be followed. This was done in liaison with the BBMP staff collaborators. The event occurred in February 2022, after hard work since the month of June 2021.

b. Outreach, overcoming vaccine hesitancy, and sensitization

The following actions were taken to reach out to all members of the community and for the vaccination drive to have maximum reach and impacts:

- Women's self-help groups & local adopted schools were instrumentalized as the nodal points for the vaccination drive to take place as it would be the ideal connection hub for reaching all members of every family in the urban slum community of the 3D Project.

- A vaccine awareness & sensitization street play was conducted for outreach & permissions were obtained from the local police station for its conduct.
- House visits were made starting from the CSA CSP students, Activity Center candidates, other program candidates such as the Bosch Bridge Program, IFCU, among others in order to overcome vaccine hesitancy.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Health Support: The vaccination drive has helped the entire community to boost their immunity against the COVID-19 pandemic allowing them to be healthy, independent, and autonomous during the public health crisis. This health support allowed people to access their physical work locations which was crucial to their livelihood since all of them are mostly physical wage laborers and as the city reopened, most individuals were being allowed physically only if they were vaccinated, thereby allowing individuals to gradually move back into a degree of financial normalcy too.
2. Increased Awareness: Due to the health discussion about vaccination, anti-COVID protocols, and health sensitization given to the nodal points of the women's self-help groups and the government schools, this knowledge became more widespread and the community was sensitized and aware about the importance of vaccination.
3. Linking the impact frameworks and potentials of different groups: the most significant long-term impact on the community was the fact that, through this program, the local community was shown the possibility, potency, and synergy of associating SHGs with NGO action for social good, which showed the potential of the next positive-trend leaders.

Benefit to Organizers:

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of nearly all the families in the Janaki Ram layout slum through health awareness and vaccination, and also demonstrated the synergetic joint possibilities of SHG women and the local government schools to act concretely towards positive social change and social engineering.
2. Sensitization about health challenges in urban slum areas and realized the difficulties that come simultaneously along with a lack of basic health resources, which become further accentuated especially during public health crises.
3. Collaboratively managed to act for community health and sensitize community based on the combined, collaborative best practices of CHRIST CSA as well as BBMP.
4. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Center for Social Action (CSA) | 3D Empowerment Project Report

Event: Women's Day Program

Venue: Apostolic Christian Assembly, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: March 9, 2022

Number of volunteers: 100 women beneficiaries, 5 volunteers from CSA Matram and CSA Yuva volunteering wings.

Description:

1. Objective: To celebrate the importance and power of women and to raise awareness about menstrual hygiene practices and health sensitization amongst adolescent girls and women from marginalized urban slum backgrounds through a discussion on menstrual hygiene and experience-sharing.
2. Planning and Organization: The eco-friendly cloth sanitary napkin provision & cloth pouch was conducted by CSA thanks to the collaboration with and product supply to CSA by the health-based NGO named Rutu Mitra. The distribution nodal points were the women's SHGs wherein, CSA was certain that the girls and women of the community could gain access to the resources and the messages/sensitization activities of the day.
3. Execution and Outcome:
 - a. Conduct, Sensitization, and Events

The entire program's events and performances section was organized & conducted by CSA Matram volunteering wing. There were 2 key performance, one of which included a play in local languages sensitizing women about the importance of the girl child and women's rights.

In the presence of Valarmathi Ma'am and Tarannum Ma'am, the CSA children's bags were distributed – thereby making yet another synergetic link between the CSP children, the SHG women, the local government schools, as well as progress towards a social cause (here women empowerment).
 - b. Menstrual Hygiene Awareness

This part was coordinated by the student volunteer wing named Yuva, wherein there was a collaboration with the NGO health-based NGO named Rutu Mitra for the provision of cloth sanitary napkins. This is was followed by a training session for the women in order to give them the vocational skill of cloth pad making, which could feed into the SHG project frameworks of the attendees.

There was a general awareness program about the importance and urgency of menstrual hygiene and care.

Short- and long-term impact on the community:

(Mention all the impacts the event created on the community, number of beneficiaries etc.)

1. Women's Health Support: The distribution has helped the community women and adolescent girls from being independent and autonomous during the menstruation period. They are usually dependent and even restricted to the confines of their homes during this period since they use tericot cloth. Whereas, with the provision of the sanitary napkins, they are made independent during this period, thereby empowering them.
2. Increased Awareness: Due to the health discussion about menstrual hygiene given to the nodal point of girls, women, at the location of the women's self-help groups, this knowledge became more widespread and the community was sensitized and aware about the importance and methods of menstrual health best practices.
3. Financial Support: Since most of the beneficiary families, due to their poverty, first cut out on the quality and quantity of the healthcare services that they avail, the sanitary napkin provision has immensely alleviated this financial stress and has borne the cost of good health practices for the community, which the beneficiaries appreciated. Thus, the community realized the urgency & importance of good menstrual health in the society.
4. Linking the impact frameworks and potentials of different groups: the most significant long-term impact on the community was the fact that, through this program, the local community was shown the possibility, potency, and synergy of associating SHGs with NGO action for social good, which showed the potential of the next positive-trend leaders.

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of women and also by demonstrating the synergetic joint possibilities of SHG women and NGOs to act concretely towards positive social change and social engineering.
2. Sensitization about the challenges of children, girls, and whole families in urban slum areas and realized the difficulties that come simultaneously along with a lack of basic menstrual hygiene resources, which are accentuated especially during public health crises.
3. Collaboratively managed to act for women's health and sensitize community based on the combined, collaborative best practices of CHRIST CSA as well as Rutu Mitra.

5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Event: BBA Department Field Exposure Visit and Menstrual Awareness Program

Venue: 3D Empowerment Project, Janaki Ram Layout, Bangalore

Date: 11 March 2022

Number of volunteers: 150 beneficiaries, 30 BBA department volunteers from Anvaya wing, 2 faculty members, 3D Project staff members

Description: exposure first time exposure to the slum community, interaction, and menstrual awareness, distribution of cloth pads in collaboration with

1. Objective: To raise awareness amongst the BBA department volunteers about the socioeconomic challenges of marginalized women and adolescent girls in urban slums and enable the volunteers to sensitize adolescent girls and women about alternative menstrual hygiene practices, their advantages, and to encourage them to use cloth pads by the provision of the cloth pads to the women and girls.

2. Planning and Organization:

The BBA department volunteers raised money and resources to procure sustainable cloth pads for the provision to the girls and women. They organized an elaborate plan with the details about the visit, the concepts and social issues that would be discussed in the presence of the women and the girls, as well as the segment about the sensitization of menstrual health practices and the use of cloth pads amongst the women and girls. This was done in collaboration with NGO Pehel.

The following 2 action areas and strands/branches of work were identified:

- a) Field exposure, community interaction, and familiarization
- b) Menstrual hygiene awareness and cloth pad distribution

3. Execution and Outcome: The following were the different stages of execution and outcome (as identified and enlisted above) of the BBA department field exposure visit and menstrual awareness program.

a) Field exposure, community interaction, and familiarization

The students went for an exposure visit to the 3D Project area in order to gain awareness about the Program (focus on the areas of menstrual health and women's empowerment) and to take into account the nature of socioeconomic challenges of the women in these areas and financial limitations and lack of awareness with regard to menstrual health practices. They met and interacted with the SHG women and conducted house visits in order to gain awareness about the issues, needs, and requirements of the different beneficiaries.

b) Menstrual hygiene awareness and cloth pad distribution

The BBA department student volunteers wing Anvaya, in collaboration with NGO Pehel, raised money and funds for the provision of cloth sanitary napkins to the women and adolescent girl beneficiaries. This was followed by a training session for the women and girls about the use and advantages of alternative menstrual hygiene practices (such as the use of cloth pads). There was a general awareness program about the importance and urgency of menstrual hygiene and care.

(Mention all the benefits the volunteers/organizers gained by participating the event)

1. Increased impact by touching the lives of women and also by demonstrating the synergetic joint possibilities of SHG women and NGOs to act concretely towards positive social change and social engineering.
2. Sensitization about the challenges of children, girls, and whole families in urban slum areas and realized the difficulties that come simultaneously along with a lack of basic menstrual hygiene resources, which are accentuated especially during public health crises.
3. Independence & Critical Thinking: Organizers learn to meticulously plan activities and daily schedules in order to maximize impact on community during a limited timeframe and, in addition, expand their own knowledge framework.

4. Collaboratively managed to act for women's health and sensitize community based on the combined, collaborative best practices of CHRIST BBA Department's Anvaya student volunteering wing as well as NGO Pehel.
5. Action-Oriented Community Engagement: Participation with local communities entail thorough engagement, participation, commitment, and involvement of the volunteers.

Annual Report 2021-2022

Event: Rural camp visit

Venue: Yeldur

Date: 19/12/2021 to 22/12/2021

Number of students: 62

Description

Students from MSW Department visited Pragathi project areas and they were exposed to villages to integrate theory into practice. Dr Amaresha and Dr Reena Merin Cherian accompanied the students. Mrs Aruna the President of CLA federation briefed about women's SHGs and the empowerment of women in project areas through various livelihood programs and income generation activities. Students who stayed in the villages experienced the life of villagers and their culture. Students learned the network and collaborative work of the Pragathi project with Anganwadees, primary health care centres, Asha workers, functioning of government schools and women SHGs.

Impact on the community

Students painted school walls to make students aware of the mindful disposal of litter, and the importance of saving water. Children were sensitized about self-hygiene and teachers were made aware of the importance of community impact through their instrumentality. The community was made aware through skits and street play about gender disparity, child marriage and child labour that are prevalent in the community.

The women SHGs were sensitized about their participation in panchayat elections and the smooth functioning of Anganwadis and schools in their villages. Volunteers helped them to utilize the common resources available through various schemes in panchayats.

Benefit to Volunteers

Students learned about the dedication of the Anganwadi workers, CSA volunteers, and Self-Help Group members. The project is sustained for the long run even in the absence of the implementers. It was interesting to know that there was a major disparity between government schools and private schools. Most parents are reluctant to send their children to a government school. Instead, they prefer private institutions so that they can learn English and also maintain a societal reputation. We were thrilled to learn from the narration of Mrs Aruna how with the effort of a few active children at the Activity Center, 3 child marriages were stopped in the community. The major concerning observations at the school campus where we did our Shramdan were unhygienic washroom facilities, unsafe washroom infrastructure, substance abuse traces, unavailability of waste bin facilities, improper security measures for the entry and exit on the campus, the dumping area within the school premises, and casual attitude of school staff about waste segregation. It was possible to make an impact on school staff about the importance of taking waste segregation seriously. Further, we also observed the teacher-student ratio, staff capacity, enrolment, attendance rate, and passing rate of the students.

The PRA techniques applied were Resource Mapping, Wealth Mapping, Gender boxes, Seasonal Mapping, and Daily Activities Chart. We used pebbles, stones, and twigs which were available around, as well as carried chalks and rangoli for the PRA. It was observed through the gender ratio that women were more involved in workload as compared to the men in that village. However, gender mapping revealed that perceived gender roles are very orthodox, where women are the main promoter of patriarchy.

Chethana Annual Report

2021-2022

Event: Children's Day

Venue: Yalachammanahalli

Date: 15-11-2021

Number of students: 4

No. of SHG women: 10

Asha Workers: 3

Description:

With the support of MSW students of CHRIST (Deemed to be University) and Chethana Cooperative Society, a Children's Day was organized at Yalachammanahalli. 353 children took part in the event, and stationery was handed to them. Ms. Sangeetha gave a presentation on children's rights and prevention. Children were divided into groups to explore violations of children's rights in their families and communities, and they were given advice on how to approach and address these issues. Mrs. Shakunthala, the Chief Executive Officer, emphasized the significance of education and good etiquette. This occasion was made meaningful and unforgettable by Asha workers, Anganwadi workers, and women SHG leaders. Children understood their rights and to address their grievances in case of violence against their rights.

Impact on the community:

Children shared a few incidents of child right violation in the village. SHG women were alerted to take action by visiting the families and ensuring the safety of the children. Dropout children were the other issue that was discussed and children were sensitized to bring back the dropouts to school by orienting them about the importance of education and basic learning. Panchayat members also became aware of children's issues and necessary steps were taken to prevent child labour and domestic abuse.

Benefit to students:

Students learnt about the problems that children face in villages, as well as how and whom to contact in order to resolve these issues. They learned about the importance of local self-government and the influence of women's SHGs as a tool for community transformation. Students could get hands-on experience with social work techniques like community organization, group work, and community development. They understood the procedures of planning and staging the event.

DRISHTI: Open Mic 2.0
No. of Volunteers: 8

Open mic 2.0, organized by DRISHTI, was a show that returned in the new year of 2021 with a bang to create a safe space for self-expression. This year's theme was "Stigmas of the Society," and we emphasized that the silenced stories deserved to be heard. Thus, on August 28th and 29th, 2021, the social barriers that had kept us confined were ripped down by over 100 registrations across all five campuses of CHRIST (Deemed to be University). We included performances of all languages and did not restrict them to a particular set of expressive art forms. Various categories were included ranging from poetry to singing to stand-up comedy and a lot more.

The promotions through e-mail and social media ran from 23rd– 26th August 2021, and it gathered a lot of attention from Christites. The public's overwhelmingly enthusiastic response fueled the team's determination to conduct a memorable event. To accommodate all those enthusiastic participants who performed in diverse languages and spoke about various social topics, the two-day event was divided into three sessions. Each session lasted more than two hours and was incredibly engaging and exciting for both the performers and the Open Mic 2.0 team.

This event proved that youngsters are full of worries buried deep within, and they strive for change. The performers' melodious songs, compelling stories, great monologue, acting, and even funny stand-up comedy highlighted how stigmas exist in our society and their ramifications. Some of the raw and vulnerable performances moved the audience to tears. Perhaps even more than the participants, the hosting teams were grateful to have the opportunity of witnessing such incredible performances.

The event was a massive success, and most importantly, the participants wished to have more such events being conducted in the future. We believed “It takes one voice at the right pitch to create an avalanche.” And, as first-hand witnesses to the two-day event, an avalanche was unquestionably created, shattering all boundaries in its path.

General Body Meeting
No. of Participants:

The session began at 1:40pm, after lunch, and formal introductions began. A recap of everything we know about CSA and the flagship programmes including CSP was given.. The students were motivated to participate in the initiative by bringing up the years of success that CSA has had with regard to the CSP, i.e. 850 children sponsored in 2018-19, and 44.8 lakhs raised for this programme. After this, students were taken outside to an open air auditorium, and bonding exercises and games were played. 3 games were played. The first one was an individual activity in which students were made to roam around the auditorium, and form teams when the host (leaders) asked them to. The team would consist of a certain number of players (as suggested by the host per round), and the team would have to discuss one topic and get to know one another. After this 3 groups were formed for the other games. These groups played 2 more games, the first one involved revolving around a bottle ten times, until all the players had completed their turn, and the second game symbolized the CSP initiative. These games, apart from bonding, also taught us a valuable lesson, which was to remember that our real and true purpose was being CSA, regardless of how many groups are formed within CSA, the entirety of CSA would always be our real team. After this, and after a few wonderful pictures were taken, the meeting was officially called off. Students went back to their homes with a sense of purpose and with a feeling of belonging in the CSA family.
